For refusing to divulge the name of a lady, who, he alleges, told him of an illegal sale of whisky, Russel Dyche, editor of the London Sentinel and owner of a controlling interest in the Harlan Enterprise and Pineville citizen, was sent to jail on a charge of contempt of court by Judge W. Corn production of the 1915-16 season in the ten leading producing countries, which grow more than 92 per cent of the world crop, was 3,-727,260,000 bushels, or 5.7 per cent more than the previous season's output, according to preliminary estimates sent by cable to the department of agriculture from the international institute of agriculture at Rome.

Constitutionality of race segregation ordinances was argued Monday before the supreme court in a case involving validity of the Louisville, Ky., regulation, making it unlawful for any negro to occupy a residence in any block in which a greater number of houses are occupied by white folk and unlawful for a white person to occupy a residence in a "negro" block.

Investigation of recent attacks upon unarmed merchant vessels carrying Americans has developed such a convincing array of evidence pointing to illegal submarine operations that the United States government has determined the resulting grave situation cannot be cleared up by the German note denying that a German submarine torpedoed the English channel steamer Sussex and disclaiming blame for attacks on other ships inquired about by Ambsssador Ge-

The Paducah Sun says there were two separate tribes of Indians as early as 1741, known as "Padoucas," according to a map contained in an Atlas of the world, and published in France at about that time, which goes to prove that everything Irvin S. Cobb said about Chief Paduke could be and is true. The map, which is in possession of Attorney J. Denis Mocquot, is on exhibition in Weille's window at Paducah. One of the tribes was in North Dakota and the others in Kansas. The fact that there has been a controversy between Chicagoans, Irvin Cobb and local newspapermen regarding the existence or non-existence of a Chief Paduke, makes Mr. Mocquot's discovery of the map, among some priceless relics, all the more interesting.

HOW TO GROW BLACKBERRIES

Fruit Will Not Thrive In Dry Places, Plenty of Moisture is Needed-Cultivate Constantly.

Blackberries need plenty of moisture and it will not pay to plant them on the top of some dry knoll; for the fruit will not grow to perfection in such dry places, and it will be hard and sour. Choose a place where the ground is of good quality, and where there is plenty of moisture.

Prepare the ground thoroughly by plowing and harrowing before planting, and make the ground mellow down quite deep where you set the plants. You cannot be too particular in this respect-remember you are set ting them out for profit and not simply to see whether they will grow or not They should be set about four feet apart one way, and eight feet the other way.

Keep the ground loose by constant cultivation, and the sooner you can get a good large bush, the sooner you will get fruit, and keeping the ground loose will help to keep it moist.

Hurt Milk Business.

Before anyone condemns the dairy business, he should make an effort to keep real cows and feed and care for them so they will make a profit. A few of the "weak sisters" meandering around in cows' hides are what pu' the kibosh on the dairy business.

The Dry Cow.

Some cows should go dry longer than others, but every cow will need a season of rest of at least a month or six weeks. It will be better for her and her unborn calf.

CHURNING IN COLD WEATHER

Many General Considerations Which Apply in All Cases—Cooling Temperature Varies.

It is difficult to lay down hard and fast rules for churning, because there are so many factors that will change conditions, but there are many general considerations which apply in all As soon as the cream is ripe. which can be determined by the glossy appearance when stirred, or when the acidity has reached about five per cent, it should be cooled to the churning temperature and kept at least eight hours before churning. This holding period gives the fat globules time to contract uniformly so that they will churn completely, thereby minimizing the loss of fat in the buttermilk. It is customary to ripen one day and cool down in the evening for churning the next morning. The cooling temperature varies with the conditions of the cream and season, and should be from 50 degrees in the summer to 60 degrees in the winter.

The churning temperature varies from 55 to 65 degrees F. Use a low temperature when cream is very sour, when it is rich in fat, when fat globules are soft due to laxative feeds fed to cows, and during hot weather. When the conditions are opposite to those above use a high churning temperature. Cream is at the proper temperature when the butter comes in 30 or 46 minutes. Too high a temperature is less desirable than too low a one because it results in a greasy butter of poor texture, and one that has a high buttermilk content, causing it to deteriorate rapidly.

As the cream is added to the churn it should be passed through a finelyperforated strainer. This will remove particles of curd and also any foreign matter. A churn that is one-third to one-half full will churn the cream more completely and in a shorter time that when the churn is overloaded.

HAY SHED MADE ADJUSTABLE

Stack Cover Slides Up and Down Round Posts as Desired-Illustration Shows the Plan.

Four round posts or poles are set one at each corner and the stack cover slides up or down on them as desired The stack should be square, 20 feet each way or smaller. Use 2 by 6 for the hip rafters and cut them plumb at both ends and the desired lengths The lower ends must not extend past the plates as they will interfere with the posts. Plates should be 2 by 6, or better, 4 by 6, and cut to fit inside the hip rafters. At the end of each hir rafter bolt a band of iron about three eighths by one-half by two inches to form a loop about each post. Bore three-quarter-inch holes in the posts 12 to 18 inches apart and use five eighth-inch bolts as pins to hold up the roof. The posts should be set in the ground not less than four feet and concrete should be filled in around them, says a writer in Missouri Valley Farmer. The posts should be wired at the top so as to keep them the right distances apart.

SWINE BETTER THAN CATTLE

Knowledge Comes From Practical Experience Rather Than From the Study of Records.

Every experienced stockman knows that the pig comes first in a list of farm animals as an economical meat maker. This knowledge, in most cases, comes from practical experience rather than from the study of records made in experimental work. In connection with such problems as this, facts and figures are always more or less interesting, and those that are available show strongly in favor of the

In experiments carried on at the Lawes and Gilbert station in England. matters of this kind were threshed out to the very bottom. The result of twenty-seven experiments carried on with cattle indicated that it required an average of thirteen pounds of dry substance to produce one pound increase in live weight. It was found that sheep required an average of 9.2 pounds of dry substance to produce a pound of gain, while the hog required but 4.8 pounds of dry substance to produce one pound of increased weight. To determine this result, thirty-three experiments were carried on with pigs, and 104 animals were fed out for an average of fifty-eight days.

Should Always Include a Legume. A short-crop rotation should be planned for best results in the building-up process, and clover or some other legume always included. Apply manure at least once in the rotation if it is available. Take the best care of the manure when it is produced. It is valuable. Good average barnyard manure is worth at least $2,25 per ten for the fertility it contains.
